

IIM-R, UK univ join hands to boost sharing of knowledge

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Raipur: The Indian Institute of Management (IIM) in Raipur and Wolverhampton university have signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) to strengthen academic cooperation, promote research initiatives, and enhance student and faculty exchange programmes between the two institutions.

The MoU was signed by IIM Raipur director, Professor Ram Kumar Kakani, and Wolverhampton university vice chancellor, Professor Ebrahim Adia.

Professor Kakani said, "This MoU will not only strengthen the academic ties between IIM Raipur and the University of Wolverhampton but also open new avenues for knowledge exchange, research collaboration, and cross-cultural learning experiences for our students and faculty. We aim to create opportunities for students and researchers that will have a lasting impact on both our communities."

The agreement is set to focus on several key areas, including joint research projects, dual degree programmes, faculty development programmes, student exchange initiatives, and the development of innovative educational programmes. The MoU also includes provisions for organising joint seminars, workshops, and conferences to promote knowledge sharing and collaboration. This agreement is expected to enhance the global visibility and outreach of both institutions, paving the way for future collaborations in various academic and research fields.

This partnership represents a major milestone in advancing excellence in higher education.
